The North Shore Management Board is hosting the 2008 State of the Coast Conference on May 1st. This conference will focus on a variety of topics that relate to all audiences interested in Lake Superior.

Internationally recognized land use planner, site designer, and author, Randall Arendt FRTP, ASLA (Hon) will provide insight into low-impact conservation development. Mr. Arendt has designed conservation subdivisions for a wide variety of clients including local governments, landowners and private developers in 21 states. Mr. Arendt’s work addresses the challenge of blending conservation values with economic needs and regulatory mechanisms. He will also lead a design exercise that teaches elected officials, planners, and citizens how the principals of conservation design can be incorporated into the development process.

Local speakers will give presentations on projects, efforts, and tools that can be used along the North Shore. Attendees will leave the conference enlightened with new strategies and techniques for shaping the future of the North Shore. We encourage anyone interested in land use and Lake Superior to attend.
